LOCATION

ANDERSON HOUSE IS LOCATED IN THE VIBRANT SUBURB OF LEITH, ONLY 1.5 MILES TO THE NORTHEAST OF EDINBURGH CITY CENTRE.

Leith has seen significant redevelopment in recent years and there is a significant level of redevelopment currently underway within the immediate Bonnington area which will further reposition the location as a thriving 24-hour mixed use neighbourhood. The area is already home to a number of key occupiers including Canon Medical Research, NHS, Storm Ideas, Chase Recruitment, Pure Offices and the iconic Biscuit Factory.

Anderson House sits within a mixed-use development comprising older converted office buildings and modern flats. Immediately off Bonnington Road, the property is accessed from both Anderson Place and Breadalbane Street ensuring the property is well located for access by car, bike and bus with a plethora of commuter routes stopping within easy walking distance from the building.

Currently 15 minutes from Edinburgh City Centre. The tram extension from York Place to Newhaven (2023) will further enhance public transport links to the City Centre, West Edinburgh and Edinburgh International Airport.
